GENERAL BULB CONDITIONS

- 1. SOIL—Bulbs as a whole require a sandy loam with good drainage.
- 2. WATER—A little water while the growth starts, and then ample water during the growing and blooming season.
- 3. FERTILIZER—Bulbs support the plants at the start, but then plant food is desirable as the plant grows and gets ready to bloom. We recommend any good commercial mixture or manure tea.
- 4. CUTTING FLOWERS—Most bulbs are not hurt by cutting their blooms, but do not cut all the foliage with the flower, as the dying foliage feeds the formation of the new bulb.
- 5. GOOD BULBS—Purchase your bulbs from a reliable dealer and be sure of good flowers.
